A person is shown from behind, sitting in a meditative lotus position. They are wearing a white tank top and white pants. Their hands are held out at shoulder height in a mudra, each holding a small, glowing, flame-like symbol. The background is a large, glowing orange and yellow circle, resembling a sun or a large flame, set against a dark background. The word "Body" is written in white text to the left of the person's left hand, and the word "Soul" is written in white text to the right of the person's right hand.
